

BOARD'S SENTIMENT FAVORS SANITARIUM FOR TUBERCULOSIS

EXPRESSION DECLARING FOR A FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF MATTER MADE AT MORNING SESSION.

INVESTIGATE FURTHER

Until The January Meeting When the Special Committee Will Report More In Detail—Other Matters Today.

Members of the county board of supervisors at their session this morning expressed a sentiment in favor of the establishment of a county tuberculosis sanitarium, and by adopting a resolution introduced by Supervisor L. E. Gettle ordered that the special committee in regard to the matter appointed last April be continued to further investigate the proposition and to present a more definite report at the January meeting.

The vote on the resolution thus expressing the sense of the board was 33 in favor and 11 against. Those voting against it were: Supervisor Barker, Crall, Hanson, Morton, Newhouse, Overton, Rathenham, Rehfeld, Richardson, Roach and Tolleson.

Gettle presents resolution. Mr. Gettle who is chairman of the special committee, in introducing the resolution, stated that owing to the fact that it was impossible to secure definite information in regard to such a sanitarium as it is an entirely new proposition, the committee had been unable to present the exact data as they would like. The committee desired to secure an expression from the board at this time and if favorable, the members were willing to go on and look up more definite information as to site, size of building, cost of erection and maintenance and other pertinent questions.

Mr. Gettle called attention to facts in regard to the disease of tuberculosis which are widely known. Its ravages in Rock county have been indicated for some time past, he said, and it was impossible to secure accommodation for the patients at the state hospital at Wales and it was likewise impossible to send them to the county hospital. He believed that there was a wide spread interest in the county in favor of such an institution and that the committee, itself, from what they had been able to gather were in sympathy with the movement.

Wants a Recommendation. It was explained that a 12 bed sanitarium would cost about $15,000 and a 24 bed about $23,000. It now costs $14.50 per week to care for the patients at Wales. The state contributes $3 per week. It was thought that this expense would not be so large for Rock county. It was also indicated that there would be a large number of private patients who would be willing to pay their own way thus lessening the cost.

Supervisor Richardson thought that the resolution as presented ought to be accompanied by some report of the special committee so that the board might have something to judge by. It was putting "the cart before the horse," he said, to ask the board to give an expression on a matter which their committee was supposed to investigate thoroughly and recommend one way or the other.

Supervisor Smith and Bear explained that the members of the board knew as much about the matter as the committee. It was not proposed to take any definite action but merely to find out whether it would be worth while to have the committee continue its work with the view to order the erection of a sanitarium at the January meeting providing the committee found it feasible.

Explain Their Votes.

After the vote had been taken Supervisor Hanson asked for permission to explain his vote in the negative. He stated that as he understood it there was no law which required patients to be brought to such a hospital and that it might be impossible to secure the segregation of aggravated cases which demanded radical attention. For that reason he opposed the resolution.

Supervisor Richardson declared that he recorded his vote in the negative for the reason that the board had no specific recommendation upon which to base an opinion. If the committee or the Rock county physicians had declared for such a move, he could then see no objection.

At the close of this discussion and after the vote had been taken favoring the sanitarium, the board adjourned until one-thirty. The members were entertained at dinner at the county jail as the guests of Sheriff and Mrs. E. H. Ransom. Tomorrow they will be conveyed to the county farm, where they will be the guests of Supt. and Mrs. Barless.

Minor Matters Up. Other matters to come up this morning were of minor importance. Supervisor Newhouse of Committee No. 1 reported on the matter of illegal tax certificates several cases concerning which had come up and the matter was settled.

Several minor appropriations came up including $30 for a typewriting machine for the Beloit municipal court. Also for $298 extra expense in building the jail barn which was laid over until three o'clock. A $192 emergency fund appropriated in 1910 for District Attorney John L. Fishers was placed at the disposal of Mr. Dunwiddie.

The salary of the county judge to be elected at the spring election was fixed at $3,000 as heretofore by a resolution introduced by Supervisor Simon Smith.

W. O. Hotchkiss of the state highway commission will arrive in the county tomorrow morning and will address the board on highway matters either in the morning or after dinner.

"OPEN DOOR" PLAN FREELY DISCUSSED

Much Comment Made in National Capitol on Statement of President-elect Wilson.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 13.—President-elect Wilson's statement that he intends to have an "open door" at the White House so far as possible, aroused much discussion today as to the extent to which a president can admit the public to his ordinary working quarters. At present the White House offices adjoining the executive mansion are comparatively easy of access to persons with business there or who are introduced as visitors at the regular receiving hours, but ordinary visitors are politely told by guards at the door that the offices are for "business only." President Cleveland came into office with the announced purpose of transacting public business "behind glass doors" but he found the accommodations at the White House not well fitted for such arrangement. An hour or two is given now by the president almost every day, except in times of pressing business, to shaking hands with visitors, and President Taft and his predecessors have maintained fairly free relations with the public during reception hours, except for the outer guard that protects the executive against undesirable persons. Visitors to the president during business hours now pass the scrutiny of the door-keeper and the president's private secretary.

WAR SITUATION SEEMS MUCH MORE HOPEFUL

ATTITUDE OF POWERS IT IS BELIEVED IS WORKING FOR A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF DIFFICULTIES.

RUSSIA AGAINST WAR

Russian Government Has Ignored Popular Voice and Declared It Will Not Fight For Adriatic Port.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Eng., Nov. 13.—A much more hopeful feeling prevailing today in regard to the international situation created by the Balkan war. The attitude of all the powers in working for a peaceful settlement it is believed will result in avoiding an actual conflict.

Serbia, however, has not yet replied to the Austro-Hungarian suggestion that Serbian occupation of Albanian territory or of a port on the Adriatic sea will not be tolerated. At the same time a Serbian army continues its march toward the Adriatic coast and in one report from Belgrade is said actually to have reached Durazzo.

Will Not Go to War.

The Russian government acting in direct disregard of public feeling in Russia has notified the Serbian minister at St. Petersburg, that Russia will not go to war over the question of an Adriatic port. The Russian foreign minister Sergius Sazonoff at the same time informed the Serbian minister that Russia would give friendly support to Serbia in her negotiations with Austro-Hungary. A dispatch from Berlin confirms this action of Russia. Significant Change.

Vienna, Nov. 13.—A significant dispatch from St. Petersburg is published today in the Neue Wiener Tagblatt. It says: "The attitude of official circles in St. Petersburg in their judgment of Austro-Serbian relations has undergone a radical change."

Foreign minister Sazonoff has given the Serbian minister to Russia to understand that Russia will take no direct part in the question of a port on the Adriatic, but will leave it to be settled by negotiations between Austria and Serbia in regard to which Russia is willing to give Serbia her friendly support while avoiding any tension of Austro-Russian relations.

The Bulgarian government has so far not shown itself favorable to the idea of entering Constantinople according to M. Natchevich former Bulgarian prime minister in an interview with the correspondent of the Neue Freie Press at Sofia.

Bulgaria, he said, wanted to have Constantinople and Saloniki made free cities. The Bulgarian army has continued to wait before Constantinople leaving the fate of the Turkish capital to the decision of the powers.

Will Not Fight.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Nov. 13.—Russia does not intend to go to war over the report of the action of Serbia's operations on the Adriatic sea, according to Sergius Sazonoff, the Russian foreign minister. Sazonoff informed Marquis Papotich, the Serbian minister, that this decision had been reached as the result of a conversation between the German ambassador to Russia and himself. The Novos Vriemya and other newspapers denounce the Russian government's policy as one of the vacillation and surrender Premier Kokovsov expressed his belief that the dispute between Serbia and Russia would be settled by compromise.

Desperate Battle.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 13.—A desperate effort is being made by the Turkish garrison at Adrianople to hold their position, according to a dispatch to the Mier. After five hours fighting the Turks were driven back by the Bulgarians. The Turks lost heavily.

Position Hopeless.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—The Turkish council of war has decided the position of the Ottoman army defending Constantinople is hopeless according to a dispatch from Constantinople which says the decision was reached after a message had been received from the Turkish commander-in-chief. This view is said to be endorsed by the representative of the Red Cross society.

To Aid Turkey.

London, Nov. 13.—All the European powers have agreed to the Turkish proposal made last week that they should inform the Balkan nations of the Turkish requests for mediation and to inquire from them whether they are willing to formulate terms on which negotiations could be opened. Steps in this direction are about to be taken by the representatives of the powers.

ALIENISTS EXAMINE MENTAL CONDITION OF JOHN SCHRANK

Sanity Commission Appointed to Examine Assailant of Colonel Roosevelt Began Its Work Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, Nov. 13.—Five alienists today began examination of the mental condition of John Schrank, who pleaded guilty to the charge of attempting to slay Theodore Roosevelt. Moderator Richard Dewey of the sanity commission appointed by Judge A. C. Backus, announced that the session would be secret and only the defendant, his attorney, witnesses who might be summoned and a representative of Dist. Atty. Winifred C. Zabel, would be admitted. The prosecutor today turned over to the commission all letters and papers found on Schrank when he was searched after the assault on Roosevelt, and copies of letters he has written in the county jail, since that time. It tentatively was agreed that the members of the commission would visit Schrank singly as well as in a body, and then compare impressions before returning to the court. District Attorney Zabel said he would call as witnesses only the policemen and deputy sheriffs who talked with Schrank after the assault on October 14, and several reporters who had conversation with the prisoner. Schrank will be questioned at length by J. G. Flanders, appointed by the court to represent Schrank at the sanity hearing.

Man Whose Testimony Convicted Becker, Testifies Against Men Charged With Rosenthal Murder.

Generally speaking his testimony was a repetition of his remarkable narrative at the Becker trial. Under Becker's orders he swore he threatened the gun men with a "frame-up" and implored them to "take the squealing" gambler's life. Cross examination failed to shake his story.

As the result of injuries to his head sustained in a fall against the cement curb on South Main street near the Lewis Knitting company's factory, a week ago this afternoon, John Spirek, an employee at the Rock County Sugar company's factory, died at about eleven o'clock this morning at the county hospital. Spirek, who is a Slav workman, is said to have a wife and four children in his native country, and two brothers in this country. At the time he was being made to get in touch with some of his relatives so that he could learn what disposal to make of his remains, which are still at the county morgue. When he took employment at the sugar factory he left the address, 655 Grand avenue, Kenosha, and it is thought some of his relatives may be reached there. Spirek was taken to the police station immediately after his accident. He did not recover consciousness until late that night and as he did not improve he was removed to the county hospital the next day where he has since been given attention. Concussion of the brain is thought to be the cause of his death.

SPANISH RADICALS SAY THAT THE PREMIER'S ASSASSINATION AVENGES FERRER'S DEATH

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madrid, Spain, Nov. 13.—Certain elements in the Spanish population express no regret over the assassination of Premier Canalejas because he was open rupture between the court of Madrid and the vatican. He was premier through several administrations, and headed many cabinets. Always he made more enemies by the advocacy of unpopular measures, until at the time of his death he was hated by many. The Spanish radicals have never forgotten this. Canalejas' religion reforms aroused the resentment of many Catholics, and at one time there was almost an attempt of Premier Canalejas to be hanged for the execution of Professor Ferrer on a charge of inciting revolution. Ferrer favored the establishment of a republic in Spain, and for this crime he paid with his life. The Spanish radicals have never forgotten this.

The body was dressed in diplomatic uniform and beneath the corners of the gray canopy covering the catafalque were the military guard of honor with heads inclined on their rifles. A vast silent crowd of people gathered both in and out of the chamber to pay their last respect to the deceased statesman. The populace of the city appeared to be much impressed by the crime. Work has been almost entirely suspended and nearly every business house in the city is closed while most of the residences in the resident district are draped in mourning decorations. Madrid, Spain, Nov. 13.—The body of the assassinated Premier Canalejas lay in state from an early hour this morning on a catafalque erected in a temporary chapel in the chamber of deputies. The liberal cabinet will continue under the temporary president, former Minister Markey Manuel Garchia Prieto at least until a signature of the Moroccan treaty is made which should have been completed today. Premier Principio, however, telegraphed this morning to the government to defer the matter until a more convenient date.

The assassinator Manuel Pardinias is a man of distinguished appearance. He has regular features, is smooth shaven, and has luminous eyes. When he was arrested he had several manuscripts in his pockets. One in cipher inscribed on the outer sheet, "The International Conflagration" and another a thesis on the "Anatomy of the Human Stomach." He also carried one of the Slammann's latest anatomical writings and photograph of a woman on which was written "To My Manuel." The movements of Pardinias are known in outline to the police. He was expelled from Buenos Ayres last March on the charge of participation in anarist agitation. He returned to Spain and afterward traveled to Paris, London, Bordeaux and Marseilles and then again to Paris, which city he left ten days ago for Madrid. The Paris police notified the authorities in Madrid of Pardinias' departure and informed them of an article he had written against King Alfonso for an objection to an anarchist paper published in Paris. The Madrid police, however, did not know that Pardinias had arrived in the Spanish capital nor had they learned of his doings before the crime.

INACTIVITY A FAULT OF POLICE OFFICERS

CHAS. E. PIERCE URGES GREATER INDUSTRY ON PART OF PATROLMEN IN SPEECH AT TWILIGHT CLUB.

OTHER CITY PROBLEMS

Including Schools, Library, Y. M. C. A., Fire Department and City Commission Are Comprehensive Treated.

"Inactivity, nothing more or less than pure laziness, due, perhaps, to the lack of proper organization, is one of the main faults of our police department," said Attorney Chas. E. Pierce in his address at the Twilight club last night on the subject of "Police."

Mr. Pierce began his speech by stating that he was not seeking to criticize but simply to state conditions as he found them. He read from the city ordinances and the statutes the duties of the police officers and found that they showed plainly that policemen have it as their duty to know what is going on and if it is not in accordance with the law they shall prosecute.

Janesville was a city, he said, about half a mile long, from the depots to the opera house and not more than two blocks wide, as far as police protection was concerned. He indicated a schedule for the eight patrolmen making sixteen trips through the city on their various shifts, which made possible a scout in at every place where they would be likely to find a violation of law, once every fifteen minutes.

He ridiculed the idea of a policeman standing on a street corner for an hour at a stretch when the longest possible time that he could be of use was ten minutes on Main street when the cars were coming in and when there might be danger of congestion. A vigilant, energetic police force was what was needed, he said, but it was also necessary that the citizens stand behind them, ready to sanction every effort to secure a law-abiding community.

Dr. David Beaton in discussing the question of the "Commission" was the only other speaker to touch upon the present wave of moral feeling which has swept over the city. He emphasized that the citizens are the responsible parties and that nothing could be done effectively unless there was a united public sentiment in favor of some definite action.

Some of the greatest failures in modern government at the present time were due to the fact, said the speaker, that there were laws on the statute books which could not be enforced. Public sentiment was not crystallized in favor of them.

Janesville had adopted the commission plan of government for the reason that it fixed the responsibility which means that the mayor and the two commissioners shall do what we want them to do, thus securing an effective expression of the public's attitude. Without this feeling for a clearly, moral city the commission is largely powerless.

Dr. Beaton declared he was gratified at the results which the committee of fifteen had secured as he learned of their work through the newspapers and from other sources. He felt that much was being done to make Janesville a more desirable place in which to make a home.

In taking up the matter of the public schools, Dr. S. B. Buckmaster called attention to some misunderstanding which had been created by the confusion of the terms school and school building. Referring especially to the recent inspection of the local buildings by State Inspector Terry he pointed out that it was the condition of the buildings which had been under scrutiny, not the school and its educational efficiency.

What had been found wrong with the local buildings by the inspectors, the members of the school board had been well aware, said Dr. Buckmaster. They had been handicapped, however, in former years by a too economical council and it has been impossible to make the many changes which it was evident to them were necessary. He went over some of the specific faults in some of the buildings and showed how they should be remedied. The speaker declared that he was sure the local schools compared favorably with other schools in the state. Dr. Buckmaster felt gratified at the action of the city commission in allowing the board's request for $45,000 without a word of question and declared that much could be done with this increase.

Rev. J. C. Hazen spoke on the boy problem, especially from the point of view of the Y. M. C. A., which, although not a public institution was closely allied with institutions of a public character. The natural tendencies of boys to gather where other boys are, to seek companionship wherever it might be found, were conditions dwelt upon. The churches which extend a hearty welcome to the boys on Sunday are virtually closed for the remainder of the week. The pool halls and down town attractions are left. The Y. M. C. A. is about the only place where the boy can safely go and remain free from corrupting influences.

The speaker told of the ways in which the Y. M. C. A. in this city was serving the youth of the community. He recalled to mind that an effort was being made to enlarge the building to make for greater efficiency and declare that it was a matter of extreme importance to the patron of Janesville desiring their hearty support while they are considering this matter of moral betterment.

I. F. Wortendyke treated in an interesting manner the subject of the "Fire Department." He had secured figures on the cost of maintaining the fire departments in various cities all over the state and other data which he used to compare with Janesville. The result showed that Janesville was securing good fire protection at an economical cost. However, he called attention to the recommendations of the fire police to the city council in which they favored the purchase of motor driven apparatus and he indicated the savings which would be effected to the city at the same time resulting in more efficient fire protection service.

Horace McElroy in presenting the subject "Library" brought up some pleasant recollections. He recalled the Young Men's Association which was formed in the early days of the city and he told several amusing incidents which he had had as a member of that club forty years ago. It had secured a library which it threw open to the use of the public. The subsequent efforts to transfer this library to the management of the city were recounted and Mr. McElroy paid special credit to Mrs. Best and Mrs. Sheldon for their untiring zeal in this cause. In 1884, the city took charge of the library and Mrs. Best gave the best of her time and energy to the upbuilding of this institution.

Mr. McElroy gave some figures to show the number of books which were being used by the public. He pointed especially to what the children were doing and how they were passing the adult in their use of the library. Emphasizing the wonderful and complete equipment and fund of resources he urged the men of Janesville to take a greater interest in it and to make more use of its store of intellectual wealth.

There was a good attendance at the meeting last night. An excellent dinner was served at six-thirty and the session was over by nine o'clock. George G. Sutherland was leader for the evening. C. H. Weirick was named leader for the January meeting.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK COMING HERE IN "THE RED WIDOW"

Well Known Actor and Chicago Company Will Appear in Janesville in Popular Musical Play.

Announcements have just been made that Raymond Hitchcock and his big company which is appearing at Cohan's Grand Opera House, Chicago in the musical play, "The Red Widow," will be brought to this city on Sunday, Nov. 24, for one performance. This has only been made possible through the rearrangement of time, as the company was to have gone direct to St. Louis from Chicago, thence to Boston for several weeks. Now the Boston engagement has been deferred until New Year's day, thus affording a few other cities of witnessing this remarkable Russian play that has captivated Chicago.

GOOD PERFORMANCE BY STOCK COMPANY

"Prince Jack," Story of Society on The Continent Produced by Bessey Company Last Night.

"Prince Jack," a pretty story carrying the listener to continental scenes, was delightfully told at the Myers Theatre last night by the Bessey Stock Company. The action of the play not only introduced the audience to the conditions of the upper strata of society but further enabled the cast to demonstrate their ability to appear in varied roles with enhanced advantage.

Mr. Bessey's acting continued smooth, even, refreshing, and the support given him was of the superior variety. The understanding of natural elements or perhaps better still, the understanding of the position, power, to produce life, tone and home color in the roles assumed, was beautifully demonstrated by the entire company. In this connection we especially commend the portrayals of Miss Paul, Miss Melnotte, Mr. Herring, Mr. Williams, Mr. Justus and Mr. Raye.

Pleasing vaudeville specialties were introduced by Mr. Bessey and Mr. Raye. Tonight's attraction Mr. Bessey announced the four act comedy drama, "The Girl From Yankeland," and for his big feature bill Thursday night, the four act society drama, "A Father's Sin."

SODALITY OF ST. PATRICK'S GAVE A DANCE LAST EVENING

Seventy-Five Couples Entertained at Party in Assembly Hall Which Was Especially Dedicated.

With the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Patrick's church as hostesses, seventy-five couples were entertained at a dancing party in Assembly Hall last evening. The program began with a grand march at ten o'clock led by Dr. and Mrs. McElroy and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weber, and all the numbers danced to the music of the Hatch orchestra were thoroughly enjoyed. Those who acted as chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. W. H. McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ziegler, Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy. The Misses Rose, Britt, Elizabeth Devlin, Elizabeth Gagan, Helen Vismann and Mae Hayes made up the entertainment committee. The hall decorations by Edward Amerphol were unusually attractive.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Rexaville Brand.
Mrs. Rexaville Brand, aged nearly eighty years, passed away at four o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Baker, 443 Cornelia street, after an illness of about a year's duration. A stroke of paralysis caused her death. Mrs. Brand was born December 4, 1832, in Clarksville, New York, and had resided in this city for about forty years, coming here with her mother from Red Wing, Minn. Her husband, John H. Brand, passed to the world beyond in 1886, and her only son, Otis Brand, died in 1904. A sister, Mrs. Ford Smith of Boston, survives her. E. N. Fredendall of this city is a cousin of the deceased. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock from the Baptist church, the Rev. J. C. Hazen, officiating.

NO INDIGESTION, GAS OR A SOUR STOMACH

"Pape's Diapiesin" Stops Fermentation and Makes Your Upset Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acid and eructate indigestible food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapiesin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful! It digests food and gets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

WILL START BRIDGE WORK IMMEDIATELY

Report Today Says Work on New Railroad Bridge Will Be Commenced on Northwestern Side.

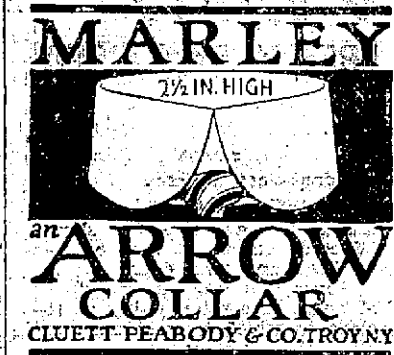

According to reports today, work on the new railroad bridge across Rock river, to replace the one now used jointly by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Northwestern railroads, will be commenced the latter part of the week, or the first part of next week. The bridge crew of the Cleary-White company, which has the contract for the work, has arrived in the city, and have commenced work. It is understood switches will be put in at both ends of the present bridge, so as to run Northwestern trains, using the bridge over the St. Paul tracks, and when the work on the Northwestern company's side is completed, St. Paul road trains crossing the bridge will be run over the new Northwestern tracks. The switches and necessary tracks for making the transfers, it is said, will be in by Saturday, and work on the Northwestern company's side will be started at once.

Why the Home Light is the Best for You

It is the most economical, as it consumes only 3 1/2 cubic feet of Gas in an hour--that is more than 2 hours light for a cent.

It gives three times the light of an open flame burner (which consumes 7 cubic feet an hour) at one-half the cost.

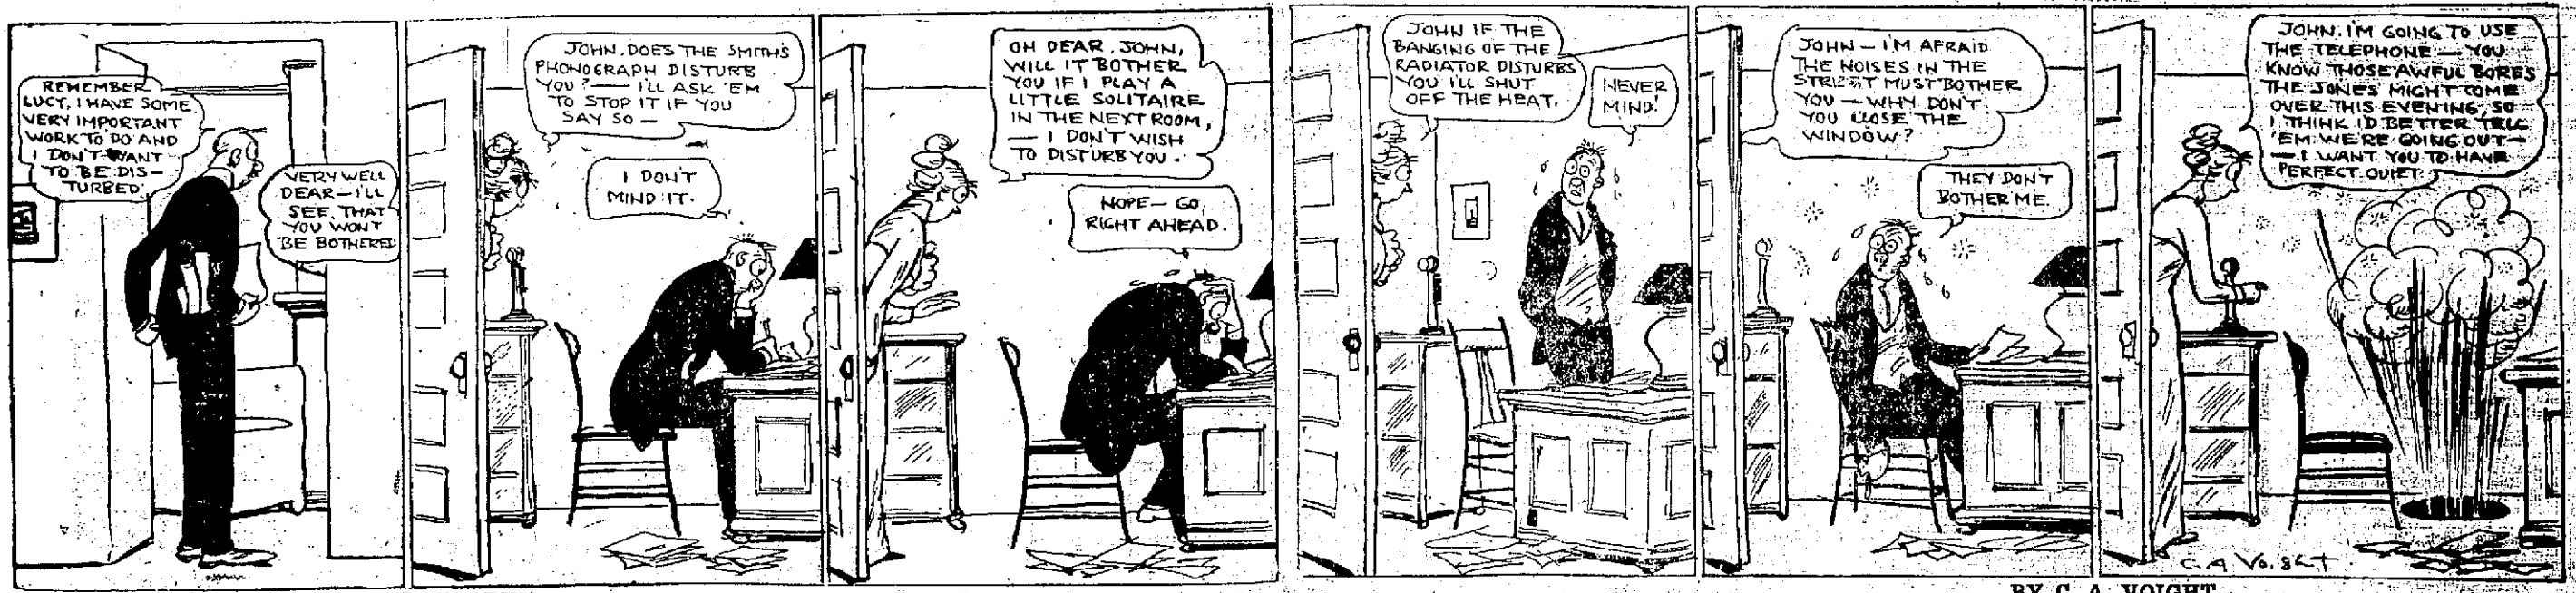

It is guaranteed against breakage for 3 months, which means that we replace broken parts free.

You pay nothing when our special representative installs the Light. Ten days later 75 cents is due, 30 days after that, 75 cents again and in another 30 days a third payment of 75 cents completes the amount, $2.25.

This is without doubt the most sensational lighting offer ever made in Janesville.

He has agreed to make 153 rounds for the St. Paul man and according to Chicago dispatches there will be plenty of Windy City money to back McGearty.

Jack Dillon, the Indiana, middleweight, declares that he will fight the winner any number of rounds for the title and will be prepared to make a side bet if necessary. He's rather tight 20 rounds than take chances on a shorter bout.

"FRECKLES."

With a most truthful dramatization of Gene Stratton-Porter's powerful story, "Freckles," by Neil Twomey, the play is proving as great a success as was the novel. Manager Myers of the Myers Theatre has secured this play for one night, Monday, Nov. 18. A dramatization of the best seller of all the best sellers should in itself be sufficient to create a dramatic furor, for it must be remembered that over a million people have read "Freckles," and have raved over it. There is no disputing the fact that for strength of its beautiful simplicity, the story stands as a masterpiece. These attributes inculcated into such a picturesque environment as the great "Limberlost" swamp, are far stronger where the eye aids the remaining senses than where all is left to the imagination. Twomey has brought out with vivid forcefulness, every prominent incident, absolutely to the text and so those who are familiar with the splendid nature of the Irish boy, with his pure love for "The Swamp Angel," with his sense of right and wrong; with his friends and his enemies; with his sweet songs and ready wit, will know "Freckles," far better and will admire him more after they have seen the play.

"Freckles" is under the direction of A. G. Delamater, who stands among the most prominent New York producing managers. He is known as "the producer of clean plays," that's why the publishers of "Freckles" and its author, Gene Stratton-Porter gave him the dramatic rights. In atmosphere "Freckles" is as pure as the driven snow, and it would have been sacrilege to contaminate such a clean story with an "unclean" play. At all events, it is coming in a dramatic event, in all likelihood the dramatic event of the season. It is everywhere else it is being produced.

"COBURN PLAYERS."

The Coburn Players who will present Othello at the Myers Theatre on Saturday, Nov. 30, matinee and evening, have by their successful performances proved beyond doubt their ability to impress an audience with a variety of unalloyed comedy mixed with serious parts—not the kind of comedy or humorous situation from which one laughs as a matter of course, but the kind that grips human interest and causes smiles.

One of the strongest attributes of the Coburn Players is the earnest and conscientious efforts which they put forth at all times. Not a word is spoken but what has a gesture or perhaps a sound to back it up. There is a real dramatic tension in the air at all times.

JANESVILLE CLAIMS THE FOOTBALL TITLE

Up To Madison the Only Possible Contender for State Honors to Accept Locals' Challenge.

The Janesville high school football eleven are today laying claim to the state championship. Madison and La Crosse play at Madison Saturday to settle the title another step. If Madison defeats La Crosse, by a better score than Eau Claire did, then only Madison and Janesville will be left to fight out the honors. The locals are expecting the challenge from Madison with the O. K. on it tomorrow or Friday. If they refuse to accept the challenge sent them by the locals, Janesville will consider that they have a timid attitude toward playing the locals. Captain Conn considers Janesville a strong team and thinks Madison could be defeated by his proteges.

Janesville's record of this season should prove that they are a team above par, if nothing else would. In the five games already played, the locals have succeeded in piling up high scores, the total sum being 192 points to their opponents 47.

Madison has overlooked Janesville this year, and is now claiming the state title. Now that the locals have challenged them it seems that a game should be arranged. If the Capital City boys fail to accept this challenge, then the locals will hold the undisputed title as high school football champions of Wisconsin.

Janesville will play at Beloit Saturday. All men are in good condition, and the team is expecting a good score against the Line City. The team went through a stiff drill in the high school gymnasium last night, owing to the rainy weather. About fifty rooters are expected to be at Beloit to accompany the team Saturday, and to cheer them on to another victory. Two weeks ago the locals defeated their old rivals here by a score of 33 to 0. This score is a good one but it must be enlarged Saturday.

DINNER STORIES

In Georgia they tell of a prisoner who had been convicted a dozen times of stealing, who, when placed at the bar for his latest offense, displayed a singular curiosity.

"Your Honor," said he, "I should like to have my case postponed for a week. My lawyer is sick."

"But," said the magistrate, "you were caught with your hand in this gentleman's pocket. What can your counsel say in your defense?"

"Exactly so, your Honor; that is what I am curious to know."

Mrs. Humphrey Ward and her novels were being discussed. A poet said: "I met the Humphrey Wards during the last London season. Poor Humphrey himself is rather overshadowed by his wife, and I think he feels it. At dinner a lady said: 'In olden times men claimed that it was possible for them to make themselves invisible.' That is still possible, madam," said Humphrey Ward, in his grave, sad way. 'Possible for a man to make himself invisible,' the lady cried. 'How on earth can he do it?' 'By marrying a celebrated wife,' was the reply.

Dr. Hartman Answers Some Letters

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.
S. B. Hartman, M. D., Columbus, Ohio, known all over the world, probably has the largest correspondence of any doctor in this country. He has a corps of trained assistants to dispose of the letters received each day. Of course the doctor cannot personally answer all of these letters, but other doctors in his employ for over twenty-five years attend to the details. Occasionally, however, a letter is brought to the doctor himself for answer. A few of the letters answered personally by Dr. Hartman in his regular correspondence are given below as samples of the letters he is answering every day. The names and addresses of the writers of these letters of course, are withheld, as the doctor treats all professional correspondence with him as strictly confidential. No one need fear that his name or address will be used when writing to Dr. Hartman.

A MOTHER:—I have raised several children, and during the time when milk was their principal diet I have had trouble to keep their bowels regular. Constipation has been the only serious difficulty I have had to contend with. What do you suggest as a remedy for a child three years old that is continually constipated?

I believe my remedy Manalin is adapted to your wants exactly. To be sure, there are several other remedies for constipation, especially prepared for children, advertised. I am sure, however, that Manalin is just as good as any other remedy on the market, just as palatable, just as effective, and a bottle of Manalin contains two or three times as much medicine as the usual bottle of laxative for babies. In these days of high cost of living the price of a medicine is worth looking after. Manalin can be obtained at any drug store.

A YOUNG MAN:—I have a letter from a young man who is apparently the victim of blood poison in its worst form. He is afflicted with deep eaten ulcers, has taken the usual remedies from doctors, both patent medicines and regular doctor's prescriptions. He writes me:

Dear Doctor Hartman: Is there anything I can do? Must I be eaten up alive with the awful ulcers that I have brought on myself by dissolute living? I can get no relief from doctors or drugs.

To this I made reply:

Dear Sir: I would send to the drug store at once and get a bottle of Lascubia. Begin by taking a tablespoonful after each meal and at bedtime. Continue this for one month, without interruption, and then write me and I will give you further advice. As to your diet, I would suggest the use of one fresh raw vegetable every day such as lettuce, celery, onion, radishes or the like. Also use meat very sparingly, if at all. Fresh butter-milk with at least one meal a day. You can eat fish as freely as you like.

A YOUNG LADY:—A young lady writes: I have pimples on my face and shoulders, especially in the spring of the year, but more or less all the time. Sometimes a few blackheads will form, but mostly the pimples are large and red. Is there anything I can do to get rid of them?

Dear Madam, You should do everything possible to regulate the organic functions of your body. The bowels should be kept regular. The diet should consist, largely of fresh raw vegetables, fruits, and outdoor exercise should be taken every day. Everything that worries or frets the mind should be strictly avoided. If you will follow this for one month and take a tablespoonful of Peruna before each meal, you may then write me again and I will give you further advice. I prefer not to recommend any local treatment for the pimples until after you have followed this advice for one month.

AN OLD MAN:—An elderly gentleman writes me:

Dear Doctor Hartman: I know how strong and well you are, although you are much older than I am. I envy you your magnificent health. Do you have any special system of physical culture to ward off old age? I am ten years younger than you are, and yet I am comparatively broken down by old

FROM A DOCTOR:—A doctor writes me as to the remedy Katarno. I have been reading your articles in the newspapers lately and I see that you are putting up the old-time Peruna under a new name. While the old-time Peruna was in its glory I used to prescribe it frequently for my patients. But since the change made in the formula in which a laxative was added, I have not been certain whether I had better prescribe it or not. I am anxious, however, to prescribe Katarno for I believe it to be one of the best tonics I ever knew of. In doing this can I send my patients to the drug store, or must they go to McDonald-Stout Co., as indicated in your letter?

My dear Doctor:—All wholesale druggists keep Katarno. Any retailer who does not keep it in stock could easily get it of them. If for any reason your patients cannot get Katarno of the druggists, they should address The Katarno Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Peruna, Manalin and Lascubia manufactured by the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores.

Special Notice:—Many persons inquire for The Old-Time Peruna. They want the Peruna that their Fathers and Mothers used to take. The old Peruna is now called Katarno. If your druggist or dealer does not keep it for sale write the Katarno Company, Columbus, Ohio, and they will tell you all about it. Advertisement.

PUBLIC MORALITY.

Henry Ward Beecher once said that "A corrupt public sentiment produces dishonesty." A public sentiment in which dishonesty is not disgraceful, in which bad men are respectable, are trusted, are honored, are exalted, is a curse to the young. The fever of speculation, the universal derangement of business, the growing laxness of morals is, to an alarming extent, introducing such a state of things. Woe to the guilty people who sit down upon broken laws and wealth saved by injustice! Woe to a generation fed by the bread of fraud, whose children's inheritance shall be a perpetual memento of their father's unrighteousness; to whom dishonesty shall be made pleasant by association with the revered memories of father, brother and friend.

The thought is worth considering as applied to local conditions, just now when public sentiment is stirred as it has not been for many years. The laws which apply to moral questions, are created by public sentiment, and many of the statewide statutes are so much in advance of the sentiment which created them that they are never enforced and soon become dead letters.

It is always well to remember that laws of this kind never enforce themselves, and where strong sentiment exists against their enforcement, the city officials can hardly be held responsible for neglect.

The moral awakening, which the city is experiencing, is due to the fact that city ordinances, as well as state laws, were being ignored to such an extent that the people finally discovered that they were responsible for these conditions.

Public sentiment is always the court of last resort. It is more potent than law, and more effective than city administrations. The people always command what they want when they stand together, and work intelligently for one common purpose.

There are always two elements of weakness which enter into a reform crusade. One is spasmodic effort; the other, scattering of energies. The murder of a few weeks ago was the climax, but this crime will soon be forgotten, and the tendency is to condone and excuse officials, rather than to demand the rigid enforcement of law. Talk of this kind is already heard in some quarters; and it shows an element of weakness.

On the other hand the radical reformer would do everything at once, and attempt to clean up the city in a week, and rid it of all its plague spots. There is a safe channel between indifference and misdirected energy, where the greatest good can be accomplished.

The city is experimenting with a new form of government. The men elected to try it out are the choice of the people. They have already made a record for efficiency, along many practical lines, and being assured of the moral support behind them, there is every reason to believe that questions of public morality will not be neglected.

The city administration is free from politics, and enjoys the confidence of the people, so far as honesty is concerned. An effort is now being made to elevate the standard of morality, in the interests of public welfare, and the commission realizes the importance of the work. Time and patience, combined with persistent work, will produce satisfactory results.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The following paragraph from Henry Clews' last financial letter, expresses the feeling which prevails at the great money center. After discussing the new president's attitude on the tariff, he says:

"Outside of the few industries vitally dependent on the tariff, the fact that the election is over is most encouraging. Political agitation will now largely subside and must run on more rational lines. The incentive to win votes by sensational methods is gone. Radicalism has received a pronounced check, and once more at the critical moment the people of the United States have shown that they cannot be induced to follow extremists, no matter how fascinating and plausible their theories."

"Apart from the tariff question, there is much in the election that should strengthen the confidence of business men. The president-elect is a man of high character, great ability, firm purpose and temperate action. There is nothing in his election that is likely to interfere with business activity. That is more dependent upon the stimulating effects of the magnificent harvests than upon any political activity or policy, although the present forward movement in business will unquestionably run its course more freely and more smoothly now that the election is a matter of history."

"All indications point to a period of exceptional business activity which sooner or later must be reflected in higher security markets. Monetary conditions are improving, and the iron and steel industry continues on its record-breaking course. The business booms in England and Germany show no signs of cessation, and since our present industrial activity is partly dependent upon a worldwide development there is the greater reason for its longer continuance. The foreign trade of both England and Germany is growing, by leaps and bounds, and it is highly satisfactory to note that the United States is winning its share, our exports of steel products having grown tremendously the last few months and yielding good profits in spite of competition with foreign makers."

The work outlined by the Board of Industrial Education is so practical that it should answer all objections to this new department in the public schools. It is gratifying to know that educators in all parts of the country have come to realize the importance of equipping the masses with knowledge that can be turned to practical account. This is what has long been needed, and this is the only channel through which it can be brought about. Parents and taxpayers can well afford to encourage the movement with moral and financial support.

The display of Janesville-made goods at the Auditorium, would be a credit to any city, and the sight should inspire every citizen to become a booster for his home town—the best little city on earth. If the weather permits, the place will be thronged with visitors from outside. The merchants and manufacturers, working together, form a strong combination, and good results are bound to follow.

It may not seem significant, but the seven little governors who issued a call to Colonel Roosevelt to become their standard-bearer, have been retired to private life, while the man who accepted, has also been retired, but has not yet found it out. The self-styled progressive party has assumed a large contract when it attempts to swallow the two old parties.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon went down with the landslide in Illinois. He was about the last of the "Old Guard" in the lower house of congress, and his ambition for another term was to fill out forty years of service. History will deal more kindly with him than the muckraker, for he was a great statesman.

The front page of Bryan's Commoner is decorated with roosters and congratulations. The Nebraska statesman is full of joy, but never too full for utterance, and so he sings: "This is the day I long have sought, and mourned because I found it not."

Employment agencies are unable to supply the demand for labor—an unusual condition at this season of the year. The man who tramps today is a professional, and entitled to but little sympathy.

CRUISING THE SPANISH MAIN

Interesting reading material will be found in the booklet, "Cruising the Spanish Main" gotten out by one of the steamship companies operating between New York, New Orleans, Jamaica and Central and South American ports.

The trip that most everyone has an exalted idea of the pleasures of a winter spent in a sunny clime, but it is not possible to imagine the historic and beautiful scenery to be found in the ruins of the vine covered cathedrals and picturesque Spanish villages which greet the traveler to these points.

A goodly supply of these booklets, which are profusely illustrated, have been received for distribution at THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

Our Model Apartment House.

We are about to expend our accumulated dough in building a model apartment house. The house will be seven stories in height and will accommodate eighty-seven families. Following are some of the improved features:

Patent dining room tables that may be turned into beds upon the slightest provocation. Tenants will not have to have any furniture. Beer bottles that will give the milkman a distinct electric shock when he tries to take them out of the ice box.

Noiseless horseless piano in every flat. To hear the music those in the flat will have to use rubber tubes after the manner of the old-fashioned phonograph.

We will have a ubiquitous janitor who can be in all of the eighty-seven flats at the same time. He can shake a rug on the seventh floor and stoke the furnace in the basement at the same instant.

The elevator will be at all of the seven floors at the same time.

The Good Old Mellowdrum.

Some say they like grand opera and think it is immense. And buy their tickets for it, regardless of expense.

They hear a lot of language they cannot understand.

Because they can't see through it, they call the opera "grand."

They go to hear Caruso and Tetrazzini.

In high falutin' grammar that's quite beyond their reach.

They wear their silks and diamonds and leave their shoulders bare.

And miss no opportunity to let folks know they're there.

They hear the fancy music and think it's out of sight.

Because the tenor pulls down a thousand plunks a night.

Although he couldn't cop out one-tenth of that at home.

And that's the reason why he has crossed the ocean's foam.

Some Dago organ grinder picks up a fancy name.

Comes over in the steage and grabs a bunch of fat.

And when the folks have heard him and when the show is out.

They wonder what in thunder the thing was all about.

Not for your Uncle Dudley. The "grand stuff" I will pass.

The show that gets my boodie is one that has some class.

Where actors do some actin' and speak United States.

And not some foreign lingo that

FREDERICK A. STOCK

APPLAUDED IN BERLIN

(Special cable to the Chicago Tribune.)

Berlin, Sept. 26.—Frederick A. Stock of Chicago conducted the celebrated Berlin Philharmonic orchestra in a concert of his own compositions before an immense audience tonight.

The program included the first symphony in C minor, the symphonic waltz orchestra sketch "On a Summer's Night," and the festival march with its unique utilization of American national melodies.

Stock proved his sterling worth as a conductor and composer alike. Tremendous applause was accorded the symphony and the festival march. The composer was recalled innumerable times at the close of concert, when he received a large laurel wreath tied with German and American colors.

The audience included members of the American embassy and the consulate general.

A score of distinguished Berlin musicians and critics praised the rich, modern orchestration, which they thought Stock's distinctive note.

Stock left for England at the close of the concert. He will sail for America on Saturday.

The famous Theodore Thomas Orchestra will be heard at Myers Theatre Monday November 25.

STATE PRESS AND POLITICS.

Their Last Trial.

Milwaukee Journal: People are saying today that Wilson would not have been elected had not Roosevelt been a candidate. There is, of course, no possible proof of this. It is possible that had Roosevelt not run, Gov. Wilson would have received as many or even more electoral votes than he has today. It cannot be forgotten that the country had progressed steadily in its disgust with the Taft administration, which began with the evidence that tariff pledges were to be broken. The one thing that is clear is that the people determined to try the democratic party.

We sincerely believe this is the last trial that will ever be given the squeaks and jars and grates. There's always somethin' doin' in each and every act. And human love, or hatred becomes a living fact.

The hero and the villain is scarpin' all the time. And when the villain gets his, by gosh, it is sublime.

I love them there explosions that make the women scream. Them sawmills and pile-drivers is sure a perfect dream. Them pasteboard rainin' a-scootin' across the stage is great.

You hold your breath a-fearin' the hero will be late. But no, by hook, he gets there, upon his trusty steed.

And grabs his sweetheart to him, right in the time of need. For real, bang-up show actin' that goes with dash and slam.

There's nothing that can equal the good old mellowdrum.

According to Uncle Abner.

Miss Pansy Perkins has gone east to see a beauty specialist. It seems that Miss Perkins was helping with the family washing last Monday and being quite nearsighted, stooped over to see if she was feeding a peckaboo shirtwaist through the wringer properly. Her nose was caught in the wringer and considerably flattened out before she stopped turning the crank.

Mr. Ansel Hanks has bought a new home and lot in the last year on his salary of $10.00 per week in the feed mill and has paid cash. The board of trustees of the Hardshell church has asked him to relinquish his position, which is that of passing the collection plate. The board passed a resolution praising Mr. Hanks' integrity, and regretting that his services must be dispensed with on account of his health. Hereafter Rev. Hanks will pass the plate himself.

democratic party. The people expect results; they demand results and not promises. Gov. Wilson and his party have a definite plan of work. They must carry out this plan, and not only must they carry it out, but the plan must accomplish something. There must be results.

A Tribute to Deneen.

Chicago News: In the face of enormous difficulties Gov. Deneen made a strong and manly fight for re-election. His defeat was the natural outcome of the division in his party. It in no way reflects upon his personal efficiency or upon the character of his administration.

This capable and progressive governor deserved better treatment from the voters of Illinois, whom he has served so faithfully and well. His work for the state will long be remembered with gratitude by those who appreciate good public service. In view of the long battle that he has had to fight with spoilsmen and other reactionaries, his many and great achievements for the advancement of the state are truly remarkable.

Mr. Deneen as governor will be fortunate if he equals the constructive record of Gov. Deneen and the public will be agreeably surprised.

The Voice of the Brewer.

Beloit News: The Socialists have always carried a plank in their platform in favor of woman's suffrage. Yet in Milwaukee county, where the Socialists are strong enough to elect even a congressman at times, the majority against woman's suffrage amendment Tuesday was extremely large. Which indicates to the impartial observer that even so the dreamy-eyed Socialists the voice of the brewer is more potent than a regard for platform planks.

Women's Votes Downed.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The defeat of woman suffrage in the state election of yesterday will cause little surprise, even to those who were favorable to this plan. Regardless of whether the principle embodied in this question is right or wrong, there was no strong evidence that the women generally were inclined to insist on this concession. In fact, the evidence rather pointed to the fact that only a small portion of the women favored this plan. Perhaps the time may come when a readily apparent majority of the women will demand this "right" and if such time ever comes it is fair to believe their wishes will be respected by the male voters, who have it in their power to grant or refuse this extension of privilege. The campaign for "votes for women" will therefore very likely be continued by those who are personally interested in the question, with a chance that some future day may see a reversal of the verdict of this year.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE EXHIBITS COMPLETED

LAST OF BOOTHS AT MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS' HAVE BEEN FINISHED.

DECORATORS RUSHED

Pressure of Work Has Kept Decorators Busy All The Time, And Work on Last Exhibit Was Started Last Night.

Unfavorable weather, such as pre-valled yesterday, did not keep away the people of Janesville or visitors in the city from attending the Merchants' and Manufacturers' exhibition at the auditorium yesterday afternoon, and despite the showers, there was a good attendance both in the afternoon and evening, between six and seven hundred people viewing the booths and their exhibits.

Yesterday saw the completion of some of the booths which the decorators found it impossible to erect before, and by today, all of them were ready for the spectators. The men who have been in charge of these have been working long hours, found it impossible to have all ready for the opening of the show. By last night, however, work on the last one was started, and the exhibition is now complete, the best of its kind ever seen in Janesville.

The exhibit of the Janesville public library, the first time the library has been advertised in this manner, is an attractive one, with a showcase displaying some of the non-fiction works on various subjects that will interest the readers who patronize it, and covers of magazines and books illustrating the types of literature offered those who prefer fiction. This exhibit has been placed at the end of the auditorium toward the street entrance on the left side of the hall.

The booth of J. L. Ford & Son at the right end of the auditorium toward the street, was completed last evening, and is very tasty in its appearance displaying the materials used, the partially completed and finished products of the firm's "Made in Janesville" clothing.

The booth of the Janesville Commercial Club, where out-of-town shoppers may turn in their shopping tickets and receive their discount money, also has been completed and is being used in place of the office at the auditorium. Miss Gladys Heddes and Miss Charlotte Charlton have been placed in charge there during the afternoon.

Next to the Commercial Club's booth on the right side of the auditorium as one enters is the exhibit of Frank Douglas, displaying a large iron drum and cream separators.

A feature of the exhibition has been the musical programs which have been given there daily. During the afternoon the Lyle orchestra has given excellent programs, and splendid concerts are being furnished every evening by the "Moose" band. Their numbers are especially enjoyable. The following program will be given by the band at this evening's concert.

March—King Sol Dougan
Waltz—Heart's Desire Rockwell
March—Mandarin Rockwell
Overture—Swing Schuler
Two-Step—Ragtime Violin Berlin
Intermezzo—Rain Drops Berlin
Reverie—Apple Blossoms Roberts
March—Algonquin Rockwell

If anyone doubts that the exhibition is not a huge success, let them go there at any time during the afternoon or evening and listen to the expressions of admiration that are everywhere heard at the attractiveness of the booths. The exhibitors have gone to considerable pains to make them appear tasty and their efforts have been well rewarded.

DEPARTMENT CALLED TO ONE PLACE TWICE

Gas Jet Sets Fire to Ceiling at Home of Mrs. Catherine Keating on South Main Street.

Twice this afternoon and within an interval of forty-five minutes the fire department was called to the home of Mrs. Catherine Keating, 541 South Main Street, to extinguish a fire in the basement ceiling which was ignited by a flaring gas jet just above the cold air shaft leading to the furnace.

The first alarm was received at the west side station by telephone at about 1:25 o'clock. The chief's auto reached the place three minutes later to meet with the announcement that the fire had been extinguished with a few pails of water. The other apparatus was met half way down and ordered to return to the station. The fire, however, was not completely extinguished but smoldering, and as soon as this was discovered the department was called again. This time the firemen entered the house and put out the blaze with chemicals. No damage was done other than smoking up the house and scorching the rafters of the basement ceiling.

Aching Feet.

Silk hose should never be worn daily by one who has tender feet.
They retain the moisture that should pass through the hose. Try a fine cotton hose and you will have more comfort. Bathe the feet with hot water and a good soap every night. Bathe-ing with camphor water is very useful.

THE EL MARKO CIGAR AND HOW IT'S MADE.

Nearly all cigar salesmen try to make a "hit" by showing you a Broad Leaf wrapped cigar. Broad Leaf is getting more popular with the trade.
We have used it from the beginning,
but there is a difference in quality, it is the most difficult to buy. The best you ever saw is our El Marko Havana Cigar, 10c and the Reliance at 5c.
They are far better than the imported.
We are making some special sizes for the holidays, with some "class" to them. Now on exhibition at the "Made in Janesville" Show. Out of town dealers write to the cigar factory at 28 West Milwaukee St.

TO REACH YOUNG MEN IS TASK OF CHURCH

REV. T. D. WILLIAMS WRITES
STRONG ARTICLE ON RE-QUEST OF MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION.

EVILS THAT THREATEN

Saloons, Dance Halls, Sunday Theatres
Imperfect Home and Business Ideals Destroy Moral Environment For Youth.

At the last meeting of the Rock County Ministerial Association the matter of the home mission campaign which is being conducted on a national scale during the present month was considered. It was decided that the association co-operate in this movement by the pastors speaking on home mission topics and by writing articles for the newspapers.

Rev. T. D. Williams of the Methodist church has prepared a paper on the subject "The Church and the Young Man," in which he treats some of the besetting evils which stand between the youth and the church. He treats these matters fearlessly, not hesitating to strike at Sunday theatres and other conditions as they exist in Janesville. Part of the subject matter of the following article was given in Rev. Williams' sermon last Sunday morning.

"The Rock County Ministerial Association through its committee on Home Missions, has assigned to me the task of putting new emphasis on the stewardship of the church as related to young men. The church in the example and instruction of the founder is committed to the discovery and recovery of young men.

"That there is a vast stretch of territory between the church and the plains where the young men are camping is conceded by all. Statistics are not always authoritative or informing, but the percentage of church attendants on the part of young men is distressingly low and of active communicants still lower. God wants the men. The ministry of Jesus appealed to men. The first apostles and custodians of the Gospel were men. God is calling for the young men of our day.

"I write unto you young men because ye are strong."

"Run ye to an fro through the streets of Jerusalem and see now and know and seek in the broad places thereof if ye can find a man."

"Diogenes, the Grecian philosopher is represented as going through the streets of Athens in the daytime with a lighted lantern in his hand seeking for a man. Sir Humphrey Davy when asked what was his greatest discovery replied: 'The discovery of Michael Faraday.' The discovery or recovery of men is the task committed to the church."

"Run speak to this young man." If the Church drafts the young men in any large numbers into service there must be a vast amount of persistent and strenuous work in removing the barriers.

Constructive work means a preparatory campaign of destructive work. We must improve the social environment. Moral poison communicates infection. John B. Gough said: "I would give my right hand if I could forget what I learned in evil society." Tennyson was so impressed with the influence of environment that he said: "I am a part of all that I have met." Charles Kingsley, Thackeray, Emerson, Charles Lamb taught and exemplified the same doctrine. "Evil communications corrupt good manners."

"The laws and vicious line every highway. They would pollute our garments. They would contaminate our blood. They would slaughter our ideals. 'Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom' and then moved into the city and the vice of the city wrought a serious depreciation in his character. No man can live in the mire without absorbing the ingredients of the mire. There are social pests that must be removed if Christ is to invade the ranks of our 10,000,000 young men. We need more courage and, if you please, expenditure of wrath to put the pest factories and murderers out of business. The trail of the serpent is seen on every feature of our social life. The moment the child is out of the cradle he begins to feel the enchantments of the would-be destroyer. To be specific we have a double standard of morals, one for the young men and one for the young women. We say to the young man, you may be beset by the temptations of the man you must not compromise and then marry pollution to virtue and expect God's blessing upon the wedlock. There is no sex in morals—God's standards are for human nature.

"The business ideals are not perfect. I recall with mortification the business methods of a firm with which I had contracted as shipping clerk for a year—young men have confessed to me of the fraudulent practices of their employers. It is a source of gratification that is not general. Young men by the millions are in employment and their minds should not be poisoned with the notion that unrighteousness permeates business."

"Our home ideals are not perfect. We need a campaign for early retiring. The devil stalks at midnight. The walls of the home will prevent filling the wall of jail. Jacob Ruskin says: 'The children are ours tomorrow. As we mold them today so will they deal by us then. Unsafe of all is anything or any deed which strikes at the home.'"

"Vicious literature calls for the attention of the church. Vulture and Hummer—both traced their hostility to Christianity to the reading of impure literature. Let a young man lose faith in God and he is in a stormy sea without pilot or star."

"Gambling is rampant in Wisconsin. They suppress it in spots, but in spots only, something for nothing is undermining the manhood of America."

"Dance halls in or over saloons are thrusting in the sickle and sheaves are being gathered every night into the garner of death."

"The Sunday theatre defies the God of Israel in the conversion of His day into commerce and greed. The protest filed this week should command the loyal support of every church. The Sabbath was not instituted for pleasure or to spend what we earn during the week."

"We have the saloon in Wisconsin and the record of death will never be known. Broken hearts and silent graves tell only part of the story. That institution has ghosts and skeletons packed away in its vaults and caverns that will never greet the gaze of men unless the judgment will be so faithful to the tragedies of life that we shall see every bankrupt spirit that went down over the saloon bar. The figures baffle. The scene staggers. The moan is undying as eternity."

Here we find the task of the church to prepare the way for Christ to influence and save the young men. The church was not organized for parlor teas. The church was not commissioned to decorate tents but to take the sword out of the sheath and fight the giants until their falling bodies shake the earth. We sing: 'Faith of Our Fathers Living Still.' Is it? If so we'll not rest or hush our voice till society is purified for the coming of the Kingdom of God."

The Home Mission campaign for America during this month will mean a clearing of the atmosphere to give our young men the chance to live.

T. D. WILLIAMS.

Two Sets of Muscles.

You have two sets of muscles, the outer ones, which you can feel and the inner ones, which are your lungs, heart, stomach and other internal organs. The outer ones are conveniences for performing actions. The inner ones are your life—the fate, which makes you happy or depressed, powerful or weak, useful or the contrary. These inner muscles require training, just like any other muscles, by intelligently directed exercise.—National Magazine.

BETTER HOG PENS THAN SCHOOLS IN SOME COMMUNITIES

Board of Public Affairs Tells of Some Conditions Found in Some Districts During Inspection
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Nov. 13.—It is safe to say that more money is spent in this district on constructing hog pens than on school buildings, the return on hogs being more immediate than on children.

These are the words of the State Board of Public Affairs' report on the condition and needs of rural schools of Wisconsin. The board points out that in some communities more care is taken of the hogs than of the children. In one place, within a stone's throw of a $100,000 building is a $2,000 hog pen. The report gives this instance:

One Dilapidated School.
The investigator found a building not very old but in a terribly dilapidated condition. The boys had kicked holes through the clapboards and boarding. The school board, having been warned by the county superintendent that something must be done if they wished to avoid condemnation proceedings, replaced the old one-pane windows on one side of the building by four-pane windows. The furniture and equipment consisted of four maps, a teacher's desk, a teacher's chair, a clock, an ancient stove and alleged seats for twenty children. The teacher used the double negative in the most artistic and unconscious way. When asked if the school board would supply her with a sweeping compound, she said that "they never got me nothing."

"There was no ventilation save by the windows. The large boy who kept the fire going did not bend his back before depositing the wood on the floor, to the great danger of the building. When remonstrated, he 'sassed' the teacher. The teacher was not provided with desk copies of the textbooks. In fact it was impossible to make a list of the textbooks, as seemingly there were as many different kinds of books as there were pupils. All the books were evidently helms. The outbuildings were well screened.

"Within a stone's throw of this building is a very fine farm with a remarkably fine building. It is commonly reported that the building for hogs cost $2,000. The school building might be worth $100. It is safe to say that more money is spent in this district on making hog pens comfortable for their occupants than on school buildings, the return on hogs being more immediate than on children."

Standards Being Raised.
In spite of these conditions, which are unfortunately too general, the prospect for the rural school is not without hope. The first part of the report is called Factors Making for Progress in Rural Schools. The law, it points out, is raising standards by offering aid to districts who secure better teachers, grade their school, and comply with the state department's standards of lighting, heating and ventilation; by granting appropriations for library books, by giving state inspectors long tenure and civil-service protection. The state superintendent is raising standards by publishing and distributing pamphlets and circulars of information. He is thus arousing interest in tree planting, bird study and agricultural teaching. Remarkably good work is being done by a few country superintendents.

What can be done is best indicated in what was done in one district by three public-spirited citizens who decided to improve their old building and improve the character of the instruction in their school. "As a result the school board added twenty feet to the front of the building, making an entryway and corridor 9 feet wide by 20 feet long and increasing the floor area of the class by one-third. The building was thoroughly painted on the outside and well tinted on the inside. A heating stove and vent system was installed. A wood box was constructed so that the wood could be put in from the entry and taken out from the school room, thus reducing the dirt to a minimum, noise and confusion which usually accompanies the daily replenishing of the wood supply. Tight covers were provided for the wood box, both in the entryway and in the school room. A dust-proof cabinet for individual drinking cups was built into the entryway and a larger water crock was provided. A home-made but capacious sand table with a beautiful clean building was provided. An organ was added to the equipment as well as a bookcase. The closets were well screened and the school yard cleaned up and partially graded. Good new hard pine floors were put in.

Get Capable Teachers.
Then the board hired a teacher of two years' practical experience who had taken all but 20 weeks of the elementary normal school course. They paid her $50 a month, a considerable increase over the salary previously paid in the district. The teacher was of good presence, bright, energetic and prepossessing. The children were infected by the good spirits of the teacher. Everyone had something to do and was doing it with a will. The teacher is planning for a school garden in the spring and mothers' meetings are under consideration. Class periods were short, but much longer than usual, only one being as short as ten minutes, and two being as long as 20 minutes. The back of the room was decorated by a beautiful large American flag, purchased by money obtained by the sale of pins by the children. A box social was soon to be held to purchase recitation benches. Whatever may be justly

CHIEF INVESTIGATES MOTOR FIRE WAGONS

Corresponds With Departments of Other Cities—Manufacturers' Sending Agents and Literature.

Since the announcement was made that a piece of motor-driven apparatus would be added to the equipment of the Janesville fire department, Chief Henry C. Klein has been receiving letters and literature from a number of companies manufacturing such apparatus and has also been visited by some of the representatives. H. P. Robinson, representing the Packard Motor Car Company of Chicago, called on him Monday of this week, and was informed that an agent for the American-LaFrance Fire Engine Company will visit him next week. A representative of the Seagrave Motor Fire Apparatus company of Columbus, Ohio, was here some time ago and conferred with the mayor and Chief Klein.

Literature has been received from a dozen different concerns. Those who have written are the Pope Manufacturing company of Hartford, Conn., Peter Pirsch & Co. of Kenosha, Stegeman Motor Car Co. of Milwaukee, Harder Auto Truck company of Chicago, Federal Motor Truck company of Detroit, H. W. Johns-Manville company of Milwaukee, Atterbury Motor Car company of Buffalo, and the Garford Motor company.

Chief Klein has been studying the question of automobile fire apparatus for many years, noting the extent of its adoption, the service rendered by it, both as to efficiency and economy, and its adaptability to local conditions. Recently he sent inquiries to fire departments in fifteen different cities in this and adjoining states, as to the number and character of motor fire apparatus used and to be purchased. Replies were received from eleven. Only one, the chief of the fire department at Shelbyville, stated that the city had no automobile fire apparatus and had no intention of purchasing any.

Superior has, in its fire department, a chief's automobile, a motor-driven combination chemical and hose wagon, will get two tractors for hook and ladder service on December 1, and order two more soon.

Racine has two combination motor chemical and hose wagons, a chief's car and will buy four more pieces of motor fire apparatus for which $25,000 has been appropriated. Manitowish has now advertising for bids for one combination motor chemical and hose wagon.

Kenosha has two combination chemical and hose wagons and intends to purchase more. Eau Claire has one chemical and hose wagon, will buy a chief's car this winter, and ultimately motorize all its fire equipment.

Beloit has one combination chemical and hose wagon and will place an order for another. La Crosse will purchase a chief's automobile and Appleton is also contemplating buying motor fire apparatus.

STRUCK BAD ROADS ON BOOSTER TRIP

And Route of Third and Final Day's Auto Tour Yesterday Had To Be Shortened.

Unpleasant, rainy weather and bad roads considerably hampered the Janesville boosters on the third and final day's run of the booster tour of the surrounding country to advertise the big bargain week and merchants' and manufacturers' exhibition in Janesville, and the route covered was shortened, as a result. Eight cars started out on the run yesterday, with the Bower City band and about thirty boosters. Hazy weather was the first stop made, and from there the party went on to Oxfordville and Brodhead. A start was taken for Monroe, where it was originally planned to go, but on account of the rain, the tourists turned back to Brodhead, and went to Evansville. The road to Evansville was in bad condition and several cars experienced difficulty in getting through. From Evansville, the boosters returned to this city, arriving here about five o'clock. The cars in the run, yesterday, were those of A. P. Loyvello, N. L. Carle, W. E. Lawyer, Michael Hayes, Hurd Wixom, Thornton Read, W. S. Jeffris and James S. Tiffled.

WEST MAGNOLIA

West Magnolia, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Lotie Edwards is caring for the sick at John Fisher's.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grady announce the birth of a son, born Sunday, Nov. 10.

The friends and neighbors of Mrs. Whipple were shocked when the news reached them Sunday evening that she had passed away at her home here. She was lying on the lounge and when her daughter went to her to call her attention to passing autos she gave no response. Mr. Whipple was doing chores and the daughter called to him and he found she had passed away quietly. She was a dropsy sufferer and that with heart failure caused her death. She was expecting death, and her children found she had her clothes ready to be laid out. Funeral services were held from the home at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, interment taking place at Attica. The bereaved have the sympathy of all friends in their hour of sorrow.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JOHN CANARY

Last Rites Observed for Highly Respected Footville Young Man at Ten O'clock Today.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Footville, Nov. 12.—Funeral services for John Canary, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Canary, of this village, were held at the Catholic church at ten o'clock this morning. Rev. Father Smith, of Brodhead, officiated.

JOHN CANARY.

Rev. Father McDermott of the local church and Rev. Father Mason of Dayton, Wis., had charge of the services. There was a large gathering of friends and relatives as the young man was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him. A delegation of Northwestern railway men were present from Baraboo to pay respects to their fellow workman whom they all so dearly loved. The floral tributes were unusually numerous and beautiful.

The pall bearers were: R. V. Murphy, Harry, Will, Charles, Edward and Arthur Canary, all cousins of Mr. Canary. The remains were laid at rest in Mt. Olivet cemetery in Janesville.

FIRE DOES DAMAGE AT FOOTVILLE HOME

New Residence of Merton Fish Takes Fire Last Evening From Over Heated Furnace Pipe.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Footville, Nov. 12.—Damages estimated at $1,000 were caused by fire at the home of Merton Fish at Footville last evening. Clifton Fish, who lives with his brother, on turning home at six thirty o'clock discovered the house full of smoke and found that fire had started from an over heated furnace pipe. Aid was quickly called and the fire was put out, but not before considerable damage had been done. Most of the furniture was taken out of the house and was badly damaged by the heavy rain. A number of windows were broken and the floors were chipped into in several places. Mr. Merton Fish is in Chicago at present. His residence is a modern pebble-dash bungalow which was built two years ago.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

Corrine Crandall of Milton Junction, one of the graduates of the training school, who is teaching near Brodhead visited at the school on Tuesday.

Miss Jacobson spoke to the students Monday morning on the subject of the meeting of the state teachers' association. The special topic considered was the singing, the plays and the games as presented by twelve hundred grade children of Milwaukee. Mera Irving of Russell, Illinois, has begun work in the training school. Miss Irving will take the full two years' course.

The training school students held an election on Wednesday. The three different kinds of ballots were used. In the presidential ticket the Democrats won out, in the state ticket the Republicans. There were five votes cast against woman suffrage. Preceding the election the principal gave a talk explaining the ballots and, in a general way, the issues at stake in this election. A good deal of interest was manifested. The Civics class, especially well posted on the subject of elections and the methods of nomination and conduct of the campaign.

A general committee on arrangements for the Thanksgiving banquet has been appointed consisting of the following: Ella Jacobson, Florence Bradford, Alice Cullen, Margaret Mahinney, Alice Lowery, Edna Loomis, and Flora Robinson. A banquet with a literary program will occur Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 27.

The work of the second quarter is now well started and is progressing very satisfactorily.

The literary society will have a program this week at which time officers for the second quarter are elected.

The following students appeared last week upon the society program: Margaret Mahinney, Marcia Lovelace, Alice Loomis, Mary Madden, Marie Lay, Nellie Malony, Alice Lowery, Edna Loomis, and Alice Cullen.

We publish this week another letter from one of the country teachers concerning the school garden work. We purpose emphasizing this work in the spring and we are expecting the co-operation of many rural school teachers.

The principal will send out a circular letter in a few days to the graduates of the school calling attention to various matters of importance in the work of teaching in a rural school. It is hoped that this letter will help to raise the standard of the work.

It is expected that the recent report on conditions and needs of rural schools in Wisconsin by the state board of public affairs will be used in the training school in class work. It is a valuable report.

WOMEN NOW BARRED FROM THE SALOONS

Council Passed Ordinance Yesterday Prohibiting Sale of Liquor to Them—Minor Barkeeps Eased.

Women are barred from the saloons of Janesville, bartenders are prohibited from selling or serving them liquor, and the employment of minors as bartenders is made illegal by amendments to ordinance 355, given their third reading and passage by the City Council yesterday afternoon. The amendments to the ordinance are entitled, "An ordinance to preserve peace and good order and to restrain vice and immorality by regulating the conditions under which the sale of intoxicating liquor shall be made," and the three sections are to be known as sections No. 2A, 2B, and 4A. Saloonkeepers and their employees are not only prohibited from selling liquor to women but from allowing them to frequent or loiter in the rooms covered by their license. The ordinance will go into effect ten days after its passage, which will be one week from next Friday.

The Janesville Electric Company was directed to substitute for the arc lights at the corner of Fourth Avenue and North Main street, and the corner of North Main street and Prospect avenue, sixty candle power tungsten incandescent lamps, and to place sixty candle power lights of the same kind on a pole just north of the railroad viaduct on North Main street and at the corner of Sharon and Vine streets.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE LAWYER FOR THE OTHER SIDE.

WHEN you are debating any question in your mind do you give the lawyer for the other side a chance, or have you long ago silenced him?

What on earth do I mean?
Just this:

There is a woman in our little circle with whom it is a pleasure to discuss anything because she is so fair. I asked her once how she was able to be so just and reasonable and get the other person's point of view so wonderfully, and this is what she said:

"Why, what do you mean?" I asked—just as you did.

"Well," she said, "it's this way. When you are thinking over any matter that has two sides, something like a wrong you feel someone has done you, or some disagreeable thing you know you ought to do and just hate to—there's a part of you that starts in to tell you the other person's side of the case."

"Of course, your first instinct is to hush that part of you right up and dwell on your own side of the case. Now if you yield to that instinct, the next time the lawyer for the other side speaks up inside of you, he isn't quite so bold. And every time you silence him, he gets more and more timid—until finally he doesn't speak at all. And then you gradually get to be the kind of person who never sees the other fellow's point of view of his own accord and can scarcely see it when it's forced on him. But if you start out by being willing to listen to the lawyer for the other side he's always ready to show you the other person's point of view. And if you give him plenty of practice he learns to do it so skillfully that he teaches you to be fair-minded."

"I'm mighty glad to have you say I'm fair minded. I mean to be, and if I am, I owe it all to the lawyer for the other side, and the fact that I've tried not to silence him."

Do you recognize in yourself the conditions that the fair minded lady describes?

Perhaps it will help, if I make her concrete for you. Suppose you have done a great deal for a certain friend, and suppose she has some spare tickets for a play which she knows you are very anxious to attend, and suppose she gives them to someone else. Of course, you feel very much injured and you are rehearsing your grievance and all you have done for her when the lawyer for the other side steps up and says, "But she didn't really have time to get the tickets to you." Do you say "Stuff and nonsense!" and try to silence the lawyer for the other side by your emphasis, or do you consider his argument? Do you refuse to listen to him, or do you encourage him to bring forward whatever justification he can think of?

It is not easy to be fair minded, but it surely is a splendid quality. And of all the deserving personages I know I'm sure none deserves more encouragement from all of us than the lawyer for the other side.

The Kitchen Cabinet

NO one can ever tell when you do an act. Just what the result will be; But with every deed you are sowing a seed. Though its harvest you may never see.

A FARMER'S WIFE.

The farmer's wife who accepts the conditions of her mother, doing her best what others could do as well, and often better, is certainly a drudge because she allows herself to be one.

Many women start out wrong, if they expect nothing they get nothing, no help in the hard places and no share in the returns of their labor.

The average farmer's wife is up at four or five in the morning, with breakfast to prepare for family and several men, for the farmer must have help. Why does not she? He has all the improvements on the market to make his work lighter and returns better. Why does she go without the mangle, which will iron bed and table linen without heat and look as well as if weeks of energy needed for better things had been used upon it?

Why doesn't the farmer's wife have a vacuum cleaner? A good one costs but four or five dollars, which will save many back-breaking hours' sweeping dust, to be further agitated by the duster.

There is the bread mixer which, with a few twists of a man's strong arm at night, will be such a help in the making of bread.

The washing machine, a good wringer, plenty of tubs, a good cistern, a wet sink in the kitchen and utensils and conveniences to make work easy should be demanded by the housewife as soon as there is means to put in a three-hundred dollar engine. Is it asking too much to have her washing machine run by the engine if it is not in use sawing wood or pumping water or grinding feed?

In many thousands of homes all the wife has for spending money is what she gets from butter and eggs, and often the farmer has that. In how many farm homes are there magazines and luxuries that cost as much as the tobacco and treats which the man of the house indulges himself with?

The farmer's wife is the most important woman in the world today; she sends out into business life more sons and daughters than the city woman. She should have conditions and rights, privileges and helps that her position demands.

When this time comes there will be more girls ready to live in God's beautiful country. Then the daughter will be glad to take up the mother's work.

Nellie Maxwell.

Completely Finished.

One day my little three-year-old sister asked mamma for a slice of bread. She was accustomed to eat the centers of the bread only and throw away the crust. This day mother told Mercedes not to waste the outside, so when Mercedes had finished eating, she said: "Mamma, can I have another slice of bread? I ate all that, even the bones."—Exchange.

HEALTH PRINCIPLES.

A chameleon placed under a piece of Scotch plaid died in a short time from exhaustion due to excessive draft upon the vitality in the attempt to adapt its color to the variegated cloth. The organism is the instrument of adaptation, function its exercise, and all function is contributory to, or dependent upon, digestion; so that the complexity of the digestion determines the expenditure of vitality. And as the negative cause of all disease is lowered vitality, permanent health may be maintained, negatively, by lessening the draft upon vitality needed for digestion with its consequent functions, assimilation and elimination, and positively by maintaining the various nutritive functions in normal action by supplying the proper food with the proper conditions for its digestion and assimilation—air, exercise, normal mental condition, water, temperature and light. Failure in any of these conditions results in congestion, which may also be caused by injury and removed by mechanical means. And drugs may be used to stimulate the organism to overcome congestion, though such stimulation is followed by an injurious reaction and should not be necessary. The practical importance of the simple diet, in health as well as in disease, should be apparent from these principles, and their application should not be confined to the training of athletes, in which their immediate utility has lately been clearly demonstrated, as efficiency is no less important in intellectual than in physical work.

notion of what the proprietor wants and map out a program for the day. It promotes a teamwork spirit that is not shared. I've never been invited yet to take part in one of our morning staff ways shows good results.

"But here again the women are meetings, yet the boss comes to me individually every day to discuss something relative to my department, and when we've finished the discussion or made a plan which in any way connects up with the rest of the business, he wastes time communicating it to the other departments, when it might just as well be settled at the morning staff meeting."

"If I have an idea about the business, I must take it to him during the day. Perhaps he wants to discuss it with some of the other departments. Well, instead of inviting me to join the morning meeting and have my ideas ready for presentation and discussion when everybody is together, more time is wasted during the day."

"When women are taking such an important part in business matters, it seems to me they should be given the dignity of a place in all the discussions to which their masculine co-workers are asked. It may be considered gallant to leave us out, but we don't feel that way. We feel that it's really a masculine exclusiveness that shuts us out, even though we are business equals."

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—Is it injurious for a young girl of 16 to not wear a corset during the week? (2) What is good for pimples? I always have them on my forehead and on my legs from the knees down. (3) Is it wrong to call up a boy by telephone and talk to him.

CONSTANT READER.

(1) I think it is injurious for a girl of 16 to wear any corset at all. If you will stand straight, your chest and chin up and your smooch in, and keep your flesh firm by constant exercise, you will never need to wear a corset. The most fashionable gowns are made now to wear without corsets.

(2)—This seems to be a case for a doctor. Better not delay in seeing a doctor. (3)—Yes, unless you have something really important to say.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am troubled greatly by so easily blushing. I have a gentleman friend who teases me a great deal by saying, "Look at that face!" etc., oftentimes in company with others. My mother also reminds me before others. I have asked them to drop the matter, but without effect. This is very embarrassing and it seems I'm getting worse all the time. Can you suggest something helpful?

MISS A.
It is nothing to be ashamed of, my dear. You will probably outgrow it. Meantime, don't let anybody see that they can tease you. If anything is said, just laugh it off.

You can help the cure by not thinking of yourself. Think of others, and do not apply everything they do or say to yourself.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—Please give good steamed chocolate pudding recipe. (2)—How do you keep patent leather shoes from cracking? (3)—How can I iron a white linen table cloth without getting it yellow streaked? (4)—Is it proper to give costly Christmas gifts to friends?

READER.
(1)—Add a couple of squares of chocolate grated fine to any simple steamed suet pudding recipe with or without raisins. Serve with hard sauce or a cream sauce. (2)—Rub them with vaseline, do not let them get either very hot or very cold. (3) then a layer of apples until all used up, then put on top one cup sugar, one cup hot water, one teaspoon vanilla. Bake one hour. This is fine.

Nut Bread—Mix together one-half teaspoon salt, four cups flour, one-half cup sugar, one cup chopped walnuts, four teaspoons baking powder. Add two cups sweet milk, one well-beaten egg, one tablespoon melted butter. Let rise 20 minutes and bake in moderate oven one hour.

—Linen should be ironed wet to get the best results. Be sure it is clean and snow white before you start ironing it.
(4)—Not at all. A Christmas gift merely evidences one's good will in remembering of the day.

A Rousing Appetite Is a Keen Delight

And What is of Greater Interest, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Enable the Stomach to Digest Whatever is Eaten.

We all like to see the way healthy children devour their meals. Would we could all do the same! Eating ought to be a delight. It is one of life's chief enjoyments. People who cannot relish a good meal are apt to fall into those ill-tempered moods from which they view the world as a sorry place to live in. So let us learn to employ the best means of harmonizing our existence; and thus extract from our daily grind all the pleasure there is to be had. This we can do by keeping our stomachs in prime, active working order.

A majority of people have come to know the blessings which an occasional use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets confer upon the stomach. They are unquestionably the most popular remedy known for the reason that dyspepsia is the national disease, and these wonderful little tablets have long since acquired a national reputation as a thoroughly reliable and efficient cure for all forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

No matter how great the excess of food taken into the stomach, one or two of these tablets will digest every particle of it. A package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should always be in the house. Many a person has saved himself from a serious attack of acute indigestion by using them after heavy meals, such as are eaten Christmas, New Year's, Thanksgiving, and other holidays and festive seasons. After attending banquets, late suppers, heavy fancy dinners, after-theatre parties, etc., where one has dined sumptuously and luxuriantly, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should invariably be used, as they digest the food perfectly and completely, and prevent all possibility of dyspepsia, which, without their use, is more than likely to ensue.

Americans are exceedingly fond of the good things of life, and there is apt to be great excess of eating, and the only way to overcome its bad effects on the stomach is to employ a powerful and efficient digestive such as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which always insure a good digestion. IMPROVEMENTS FOR MANUAL TRAINING

Additions to Equipment Made Necessary Owing to Increasing Popularity of This Department.

It is seldom that one hears of the manual training department of the high school. At present the enrollment is too large for the equipment, which has required Prof. Coplan to split the classes into two sections. This had to be done throughout, and even at that, much progress is attained. In the Sophomore class, there are fifteen manual training students, who start on lathe work this week. This department has purchased three new direct connected Oliver lathes and where only three could work at a time, now six can be accommodated. The Freshman class has twenty-six students, in manual training work, and only 24 can be accommodated in the woodshop at one time. Here the class is split into two sections, each class reciting every other week.

A new departure in the work this year is the introducing of an improved course in mechanical drawing, and it is the same identical course being used in the Manual Training schools of Milwaukee. This course is practical, and the students are decidedly interested. In addition to this is a side line, which the Seniors only take up, the course in shop mathematics, which enables the Seniors to understand the reasons why certain work is done. This is very important, and gives each student a chance to meet with better success in his work.

Prof. Coplan has arranged new separate lockers for the boys to keep their tools in. They are supplied with keys to keep the tools from getting lost or misplaced. A power driven grindstone for sharpening the various tools has also been arranged. This will in turn give the students taking this line of work, the experience in grinding their own edged-tools. The machine and forge shop will open at the beginning of the second term, or about the first of December. The forge work consists of drawing out, upsetting, forging, belt, edge, and welding. The machine shop will be used in tool making and tempering, chipping, and filing. Paper turning will be done on lathes, and some experience in shaper-work and drill press will be done.

Mr. Bicknell has made Prof. Coplan an offer for his students in the near future. As they progress, they can make machinery for him, assuming that he stand all the risk. The students will take advantage of this extraordinary offer and make various attempts to see just what practical work they can do.

Prof. Coplan is desirous of having an exhibit about February first, as he wants to show the city the progress which is being done in this department of the local high school. He is interested in the work, and a successful year has well been under way.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, and I will do that. I can say further that this medicine has been found for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements of the law. It will not only cure you where and how they may be cured, I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years a quarter of a century I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is not until now that I have found a way now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to send any money to find out. I don't ask them to believe me; nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr. I notice symptoms number—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 9130 Dungan Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From my standpoint view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that: I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that. I can say further that this medicine has been found for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements of the law. It will not only cure you where and how they may be cured, I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr. I notice symptoms number—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 9130 Dungan Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From my standpoint view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I

AFTER MANY ATTEMPTS, MISS GRACE VAN LOON, DAUGHTER OF OSWALD VAN LOON, LATE CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY CLERK, HAS SUCCEEDED IN ELUDING HER VIGILANT PARENTS AND SUCCESSFULLY MARRIED JOHN BIMPINS. THIS IS DISTINGUISHED AS THE GROOM IS A MAN OF VERY SMALL MEANS AND MISS VAN LOON ONLY RECENTLY JILTED MR. VAN-DE-WURST, A MILLIONAIRE NOBLEMAN AND HEAD OF THE SAUSAGE TRUST, AT THE ALTAR.

THEY SHALL NEVER DAREN MY DOORSTEP AGAIN! I WILL NEVER FORGIVE THEM!

THE ELOPEMENT TOOK PLACE LAST EVENING, GRACE SNEAKING OUT WHILE MR. AND MRS. VAN LOON WERE HAVING A SLIGHT ARGUMENT OVER THE LATE CANDIDATE'S BE-LINE FOR THE HOME OF NEYSPUZER WHO TIED THE KNOT IN APPROVED FASHION! AS PA VAN LOON WAS STILL FIGURING ON RETIRING AS FATHER-IN-LAW OF THE SAUSAGE TRUST HE WAS EXCEEDINGLY WRATHY.

MRS. ANABEL VAN LOON, MOTHER OF THE BRIDE IS PROSTRATED OVER THE AFFAIR. SHE THOUGHT THAT GRACE WOULD CHANGE HER MIND AND MARRY HER WEALTHY SUTOR, WHEREBY MRS. VAN LOON MIGHT ENTER HIGH SOCIETY. IT IS NOW THOUGHT HER NEW PANNIER SKIRT WILL BE TOTALLY USELESS.

"Your Ladyship!" interposed Marie. The Governor's daughter got up quickly. "I am very tired, Marie, and wish now to be alone! You need not remain—I shall not want you again tonight."

The old nurse murmured a dejected response; turned away.

"I thank your Ladyship. The girl's last look was one of indubitable satisfaction as she followed her aunt from the room."

My lady stared after them. "Daughter of Pierre Laroche! Friend of the Black Seigneur! Marie's words continued to ring in her ears. She threw herself into a chair; sat long very still, her eyes bent straight before her, on either cheek now a bright spot of color.

CHAPTER XXVII.

A Stroll on the Strand.

"You are in a hurry, Monsieur Beppo?" arms akimbo, Nanette, standing in an embrasure of the rampart, called out to the Governor's man as he passed by.

"Ah, Mistress Nanette," Beppo stopped readily enough, "I didn't see you at first."

"Because you have more important matters to think of," she laughed, showing her strong white teeth.

The fat old man looked pleased; a few days before, Nanette had flashed a radiant smile at him from her casement, and, ever since, he had been inclined to regard her with favor.

"Not more important, but duties that must be attended to! The wedding hour draws near." The island girl half turned her head; a shadow seemed to pass over the bold, sun-burned features. "And her ladyship gives tomorrow a riding party for her guests—a last celebration before she is led to the altar. I am on my way now to arrange about the escort."

"A riding party!" Nanette spoke quickly. "You mean on horseback?"

"How else?" said Beppo. "It is a pastime her ladyship has always been very fond of, even as a child. In those days, not without an accent of self-importance, 'it was my privilege'."

"Do they ride far?" interrupted Nanette with ill-suppressed eagerness.

"To the old Monastery St. Raphael; an imposing ruin of tenth century architecture, my dear," he added pompously.

"And where is it?"

"Off the Paris highway, some ten miles from the Mount."

"Ten miles? And the country is beautiful? Not open, sandy, like the shore?"

"It partakes of a rugged grandeur." "With forests around?" quickly.

"Yes," indulgently. "You like forests, Mistress Nanette?"

"When they are thick and wild—" "Then would you like these?"

The girl asked no further questions; yet still Beppo lingered, his glance seeming loath to withdraw from this exuberant specimen of vigorous young womanhood. "Which way were you going, good Mistress Nanette?" he asked finally. "On second thoughts, I have a little time to spare and will walk along."

Nanette looked down from the rampart toward the sands and the shore, did not answer, and, more insinuatingly, Beppo repeated his proposal. Nanette started.

"La, Monsieur Beppo! I—I'm afraid it wouldn't do. There's my aunt," tossing her head, "that careful of me! Won't even let me go walking on the beach alone! Do you ever go walking on the beach, Monsieur Beppo?" she inquired suddenly, regarding him with an eloquent look.

"I—it has not been my custom," he murmured. "But," the fishy eyes growing brighter, "with you—if I might accompany you—"

"Oh, I didn't mean that! Oh, no! Of course not! And I couldn't think of it. My aunt—"

But when a few moments later, she turned, to walk quickly away, the round and shining face of Beppo, watching her disappear, were not the her lap to the floor, and, leaning forward, her firm, brown hands clasped over her knees, she seemed to be asking herself questions, or weighing some problem.

"Yes; it is our only chance." In her eyes a steady glow replaced the varying lights and, getting up with a sudden air of determination, Nanette crossed the room to where, near the door, stood a small desk. Glandingly, she seated herself and, reaching for paper and pen, wrote carefully and somewhat laboriously a few words. She had finished and was contemplating the result of her eager efforts when a hand at the door caused her to dash down the pen and spring to her feet. As her aunt entered, Nanette took a few steps forward, and, bending to pick up her work from the floor, turned partly away and thrust the paper into the bosom of her gown.

"I came to tell you supper is ready," said Marie quietly.

At the table with her aunt the girl's manner was subdued and deferential; she observed the nicest proprieties, and bestowed on the other's slightest word a meed of attention calculated to soften the old woman's attitude and suspicions. And possibly succeeded; for, it may be, Marie's own conscience had begun to reproach her; for a number of days had passed and nothing had as yet occurred to justify the early apprehensions she had entertained. Under the circumstances the meal was a little prolonged; the first shafts of twilight had entered the courtyard and had begun to steal into the narrow chamber with darkening effect, ere of an accord the two women pushed back their chairs.

"It gets dark early," said the girl, "or time has passed quicker than I thought. Perhaps it was what you were telling me of the former lady of the Mount. She must have been very beautiful!"

"She was," answered the woman; "and as good as beautiful!"

"Heigh-ho!" Nanette sighed; through the window watched the shadows that like dark, trailing figures seemed creeping up the ancient wall to caress and linger on green leaves of vines, bright flowers and other living things. "But I suppose she had everything she wanted." The girl stirred restlessly. "What sort of a man is Monsieur Beppo, aunt?"

"Beppo?" Recalled as from a long train of recollections, the woman did not seem to notice the abruptness of the inquiry. "Oh, he is an old and faithful servant. For almost as many years as I have been here," with an accent of pride, "has he served at the Mount!"

"And his moral character, aunt?" demurely.

"Monsieur Beppo has a reputation for piety, no doubt deserved!" returned the woman, with an accent of surprise. "At any rate, he seldom misses a mass. But why do you ask?"

"Because I met him today and he invited me to walk with him this evening."

"He did?" Marie's mouth grew firm. "And you?"

"I didn't exactly know how to refuse! He looked so old and respectable! I thought, too, you wouldn't mind and—I'm glad you think so well of him, aunt."

In the gathering gloom the listener's face seemed suddenly to grow graver; her eyes, which had returned to the girl's, expressed once more doubt and misgiving. With her glance lifted upward, however, Nanette did not seem to notice this quick change. A star-faint forerunner of a multitude of walking orbs—peeping timorously down from above the gray, gaunt mass of stone, alone absorbed the girl's gaze and attention.

"Where were you thinking of going?" after a silence of some length the older woman asked.

"I don't recall that Monsieur Beppo mentioned," was the low-murmured response. "But, of course, aunt, if you object—"

"I do not know that I do," said the other slowly. "Only," as if she thought had suddenly come to her, "what were you writing at her ladyship's desk when I went to call you?"

"Writing?" Nanette regarded her blankly. "I don't understand you, aunt."

"Weren't you writing something that you hid in your dress when I came?"

"No!" The girl looked full at the other; denied point-blank the accusation. "Now that you speak of it, I believe I did stop to the desk," she answered glibly, "to look at some ornament; but as for writing, or darning, I should not have presumed."

A low discreet rap at the door interrupted, and, with a whispered "There he is now!" Nanette cut short further argument by rising.

"She is not telling the truth!" For some time the woman stood looking down in gloomy thought after the two had gone. "What does it mean?" Moving to a peg, she took down a shawl. "What can it mean?" she asked herself again, and, wrapping the garment about her head and shoulders, left the room.

Half an hour later, at Beppo's side, on the beach, Nanette measured her steps to his; listened to the old man's platitudes, and even turned a not unwilling ear to sundry hints and innuendoes of a tenderer nature. The girl was in her most complaisant mood, and, in his role of discreet gallant to young and blooming womanhood, the fat factotum strove to make the most of the opportunity. He sighed; bethought him of a sentimental tale, and carped of the beauty of the moon, then gilding the edge of the Mount's high towers! She answered; looked; but soon her eloquent glance averted to the sands, dotted by desultory seekers of cockles, or belated stragglers from the shore, and fastened itself on a jutting point of the Mount.

Near it, before a large rock of peculiar shape, a man was engaged in that common nocturnal labor of the locality, digging! As the couple drew near, quickly he raised his gaze; almost at once let it fall; engrossed in

Made Strong and Well by Vinol.

When we tell you that Vinol is the best remedy in our whole stock for making weak, puny ailing children strong, robust and rosy we are only telling you what has been proved by hundreds of mothers.

Mrs. W. O. Strother, Raleigh, N. C., says: "My little girl, Hazel, has been taking Vinol to build her up after a severe spell of sickness. It has done so much good by restoring her appetite and building up her strength that I think Vinol is the finest tonic ever prepared, and I am telling everyone about it."

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for every weak, and ailing child because sickly children need the strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic which Vinol contains—that is why Vinol builds them up quickly and gives them a fine healthy color. his work, continued to toss the sand and stood over it searchingly. But when they had gone by, once more he straightened, and, at the same time, the girl looked back. Stalwart, black-bearded, a sailor by his dress, the fellow made a sign, and, apparently any doubt as to who he was vanished from Nanette's mind; for from the fingers of the free hand she held behind her, something fluttered to the beach.

Leaning to his implement, the man regarded the paper, but not until the girl's low laugh was heard, as she and Master Beppo vanished in the darkness, did he step forward and secure it.

"So! That was it!" Breathless, indignant, Marie, standing in the black shade of one of the Mount's projections, watched the fellow read and regard carefully the message in his hand; then tearing it, crumple the bits and thrust them toward his pocket as he walked off. "Brazen hussy! But her ladyship shall know; and if she doesn't pack you off, bag and baggage—Eh? What is that?" And springing forward, the woman pounced upon something that lay on the sand.

His Version.

At an examination held in a junior school a composition on cats was set. One young hopeful wrote the following: "Cats that's made for little boys and girls to maul is called 'Maltese' cats. Some cats are known by their queer purr; these are called 'Purrelans' cats. Others with very bad tempers are known as 'Angorie' cats. Cats with deep feelings are called 'Feline' cats. Very fine cats are called 'Magnificats'."

Unfortunate English.

The general impression that the Englishman's life is rather prosy is supported by the statement of a Londoner who visited at Clay Center. He said he never had tasted fried chicken or strawberry shortcake, the two being unknown to the culinary art in his country.—Kansas City Star.

Headache?—It's Your Liver.

Too Many People Take Headache Powders When a Liver Tonic Is Needed.

Try Olive Tablets—the Substitute for Calomel.

Anyone who takes Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets the moment he suspects his liver or bowels, will never have headache.

There is no necessity, when you take Olive Tablets, of following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts or castor oil, as you should after taking calomel.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel or any other metallic drugs; they are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, sugar-coated, easy to take, and never gripe or cause weakness.

Thousands of people take one every night at bedtime just to prevent disorder of the liver, constipation, bad breath, pimples, headache, etc.

Dr. Edwards, calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with liver and bowel troubles.

Try them for a week. Take one on retiring nightly.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.

Rabbits Cause Immense Loss.

Observant and experienced men compute that eight or ten rabbits eat or destroy as much grass as one sheep. As there are so many millions of rabbits in Australia, the loss in the carrying capacity of the country is appalling. The pest in New South Wales is spreading, notwithstanding all that is being done in the shape of trapping, poisoning, fumigating, and digging out.

Case After Case

Plenty More Like This in Janesville.

Scores of Janesville people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

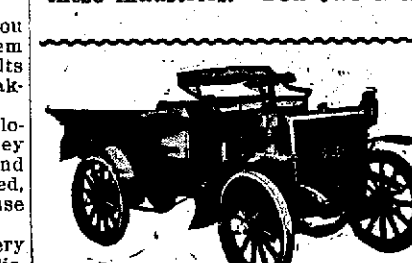

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, 118 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney trouble for ten or twelve years. My kidneys became sluggish and their failure to do their work properly caused me to become weak and helpless. The kidney secretions were unnatural and often my joints were sore and swollen. I had almost given up hope of getting relief when I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills. I got a supply at the People's Drug Co., and they soon restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I advise other kidney sufferers to try this remedy. I take pleasure in again recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and advising their use in all cases of kidney trouble. I am still free from kidney complaint and my back does not bother me to any extent."

BY WALT MASON

There are no jokes that are not old
—they all came down from ages dark;
The freshest of them all were told by Shem and Japhet in the ark. So say the scholars, who have sought the pedigrees of jests and things, through musty tomes of tommyrot, and in the tombs of ancient kings. The jests we see in almanacs, which we imagine freshly canned, were old when Moses made his tracks toward the milk and honey land. You cannot spring a cheerful gag known in Pharoah's time, and Cleopatra used to brag of how she framed the comic rhyme. But let us never take it hard that all our jests are old and stale;
a joke, though bearded like the pard, is always better than a wall. For rather far come down the street dispensing jokes that Noah knew, old things with whiskers to their feet, than go around morose and blue. While I still frolic on the stage I'll straw around my harmless chaff; and if the same is green with age, what difference, if people laugh? The chestnut is a noble fruit that should not by mankind be feared; I don't respect the fresh galoot who damns it merely for its beard.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

STOCKINGS.
(By Howard L. Rann.)

STOCKINGS are a variety of shifting scenery with which people decorate the sidewalks, hotel corridors and street cars. They are worn on both feet with careless abandon, which sometimes becomes so careless as to cause demure citizens to gasp in three or four different colors.

Stockings were introduced into this country by the Pilgrim Fathers, who brought over several pairs
in the Mayflower and wore them
from the knee down in order to circumvent the frost and terrify
the American Indian. These
stockings were about two inches thick and open at one end, thereby differing from the modern stocking, which opens at both ends after fifteen minutes wear.

The first type of stocking spoken of in history is the kind worn by such noted Romans as Julius Caesar, Scylla and Charybdis. This consisted of a link of colored bicycle tape wound around the leg in a graceful coil, giving the wearer the striking aspect of an energized barber pole.
This stocking was done away with by an edict of Tiberius Caesar, who was a knock-kneed monarch and tried to introduce long pants at the court of Rome without success.

The silk stocking, used to be considered a great luxury, and when a woman got a pair of them it was the sole topic of conversation from the Main street bridge to the Fair grounds. Now, however, for 25 cents a pair of silk stockings can be had which will hold together the greater part of a day without breaking down in more than three or four joints. After a silk stocking has been darned it looks about as tidy as a pair of re-tooled overalls.

Stockings come in different lengths, all of which begin to unravel from the top and yawn at the heel the second day out. It is an embarrassing experience to go in to get fitted for a new pair of shoes and have the salesman expose to the light of day a large, undarned opening in the right stocking, through which the big toes peep shyly. This is a common falling of near-silk hose, which is always falling apart at the crucial moment.
